Long comment

At the end of a small country road lined with poplars, you come to the farm of Mantellerie. Buildings and meadows shelter and feed the backbone of French agriculture: cows, goats, pigs, sheep, rabbits and poultry.

There are also dogs and cats as well as horses, giving you the opportunity to differentiate between livestock and pets.

You will also find a vegetable garden and ecological orchard as well as a small pond where you can discover the biodiversity of the aquatic world.
